3Q22 SUMMARY REPORT

A message from the CEO

Our third quarter results reflect once again the strength, resilience, and diversification of our portfolio of companies. We continue to execute on our strategy against a backdrop of uncertainty and heightened volatility in financial markets, both globally and in Brazil, as well as the economic effects of higher interest rates to curb inflation. Importantly, we continue to prudently manage the short term while we invest in the long-term transformation of our portfolio.

We earned R$1.2 billion in net income during the third quarter of 2022, up 12% vs. the third quarter of 2021. Our net revenues during the third quarter of 2022 reached R$14.0 billion, while EBITDA was R$2.8 billion. Our balance sheet remains strong, with low leverage, substantial liquidity and three investment grade ratings.

We had important initiatives taking place during the third quarter of 2022 in terms of our portfolio evolution:

We closed the R$1.2 billion acquisition of an additional stake in CCR, Brazil's premier infrastructure platform. Our ownership is now at 10.3%, we have nominated two board members and will work alongside our partners in the control group to advance the company's long-term strategy.

 Our partnership with Temasek was fully implemented during the quarter, through a new
 US$700 million growth capital fund for Brazil and the creation of 23S Capital. We are very excited with this new venture and its mandate focused on themes associated with secular growth trends, with an emphasis on new business models and technologies across various sectors of the Brazilian economy.

 Banco BV announced a very important and strategic partnership with Bradesco to create a new independent asset and wealth management platform. In the transaction, Bradesco is acquiring 51% of BV's current asset management and private banking operations, with R$41 billion in assets under management and R$22 billion in assets under custody, respectively. Closing is subject to regulatory approvals.

 At Auren, the company approved the implementation of two new greenfield solar projects with investments of R$2.2 billion. These projects will add 548 MWac in generation capacity and reinforce the company's growth strategy with discipline in capital allocation.

We and our portfolio companies are also advancing on initiatives and commitments to the energy transition and decarbonization. At Nexa, the company announced its long-term ESG commitments through 2030, and its target to reach neutrality by 2040 and net zero by 2050. At CBA, the company announced the issuance of Latin America's first certified carbon credits from the Cerrado biome at its flagship environmental reserve Legado Verdes do Cerrado, in partnership with Reservas Votorantim. Still on the topic of carbon credits, Votorantim alongside Votorantim Cimentos, Auren and CBA are part of the Brazilian Initiative for the Voluntary Carbon Markets. This initiative, coordinated by McKinsey, seeks to contribute to the development of the voluntary carbon markets in Brazil with actionable, concrete proposals.

As we approach the year-end, we and our management teams will remain focused on the short-term challenges and continue to seed the portfolio for the long run. Once again, despite the increased volatility and uncertainty, we remain confident in our ability to navigate the environment, dynamically manage our portfolio of companies and investments, and drive long-term returns to our shareholders.
